Captain Mackay.

LONDON, Feb. 10.

Captain Mackay, captured at Cork for planning the recent attack on Martello Tower, at Duncannon, was brought up for examination Saturday morning. The evidence seemed conclusive and he was fully committed for trial. Mackay is described as a very young man, having barely completed his 21st year. Several of the rioters who attempted to rescue Mackay from the custody of the police were also examined and committed. It seems that in the melee two of the police were shot and dangerously wounded.

NEW YORK.

General News.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.

An Atlanta special of the 9th to the Tribune says: The result of the Alabama election is yet uncertain. A system of proscription there has greatly reduced the white vote. To-day's Montgomery Mail promises on Tuesday a black list of names and places of business of all white men who voted for the Constitution. Success now mainly depends on the result in Northern Alabama. In that section there are some counties in which no election was held, the loyal voters being frightened off by threats of vengence from the unregenerate rebels. In these counties General Meade will doubtless order a special election and see that the voters are protected. The General left Montgomery for Atlanta this morning.

A Havana special to the Herald, dated the 9th, contains the following:

The powder that was shipped by the Hamburg brig Frederica is supposed to have been intended for Mexico.

The subsidy to the Spanish mail steamer, playing between this port and Vera Cruz, is $12,000 per month.

Imports at Havana are made liable to payment of dues in advance. The practice of requiring security therefor is abolished, but the custom officials are made responsible.

A magistrate was recently assassinated near Bejucal.

Senor Jose Fio Duller, brother of Don Pascos, is dead.

Late advices from Coracos, Venezuela, are to the 23d ult.

In Argua the insurrectionary troubles were diminishing, but General Miguel Gil, commander of the national forces and Minister of War, had been killed in action.

In Cogedeo General Gonzales Cardius revolted but was killed.

The general situation of the Republic was critical.

President Falcon has announced a new Cabinet.

Panama letters of February 1st state that dates from Guatamala contain an official denial on the part of the Minister of Foreign Affairs of the reports that a war was imminent between that country and Mexico.

Additional advices from Lima, Peru, state that Cansico was on his way to the capital with the victorious army of Arequipa.

Balta had already arrived and announced his determination to support General Cansico as the legal ruler.

One hundred of Cansico's men had been killed by the explosion of a powder magazine.

The United States steamer New York bound for Valinpariso with General Prado on board, has not been heard from as she did not touch at any Peruvian port.

The World has the following special from Montgomery, Ala., dated the 9th: Returns from seventeen counties, among them the seven heaviest negro counties in the State, show 4,000 less than the required half.

Information from North Alabama, where the registered whites largely outnumber the negroes, is that the vote is very meagre. The white vote so far reported does not aggregate one hundred and fifty in the whole State. Up to date the Constitution is certainly defeated. Efforts are making to have the polls reopened, but it is understood here from high authority that it will not be done without orders from Washington to that effect.

WASHINGTON.

Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.

In the Supreme Court to-day, Associate Justice Nelson announced an elaborate opinion in the case of the State of Georgia against Secretary Stanton, General Grant and Major General Pope, praying for reasons set forth in petition, that they may be restrained from doing certain acts contemplated by the reconstruction laws. The Court dismissed the bill, for the reason that it presents a political question and therefore does not properly fall under its jurisdiction. The opinion, the Justice said, was also applicable to a similar petition of the State of Mississippi.

Johnson—Stanton—Grant.

The Sub-Committee on Reconstruction this forenoon resumed the examination of Mr. Stilson, correspondent of the New York World, with reference to his conversation with the President on the subject of the Stanton and Grant matter, and in connection with the President and Grant correspondence, which was referred by the House to that Committee.

The Election.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., Feb. 10.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

House.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.

Bills and resolutions were introduced in aid of the Union Pacific Railroad, Eastern Branch; to provide for a commission to investigate the claims and accounts of Indian depredations; to allow respondents in criminal proceedings to testify in United States Courts held in the States where the same are allowed by the statute; to provide for the exportation of distilled spirits in bond; to provide for a gradual return to specie payment; equalize contracts for the payment of gold for retiring United States notes and free national banking system; extending the provisions of the act for legal protection to officers of revenue, and to all civil and military officers for acts done during the rebellion under authority of the Executive Government of the United States; authorizing the rules and regulations by the Secretary of the Treasury for registration of certain vessels on western and northern lakes; in reference to the continuance of the Freedmen's Bureau in Tennessee; to grant relief to Indiana volunteers of 1864; relative to additional bounty; relative to the payment of pensions to drafted men; for the use and inspection of steamboat boilers made of material other than vertical plates of wrought iron; requesting the Committee on Reconstruction to report whether further legislation is necessary to insure a more speedy restoration of the late rebel States to their full political rights with sufficient guarantees; declaring it inexpedient to have any change or reduction of the banking system.

Mr. Paine offered a resolution declaring the seat of Government ought to be removed to the Valley of the Mississippi. Rejected.

The Speaker presented several Executive documents, including an extract from the proceedings of the Mississippi Convention relating to the cotton tax being applied to the relief of the poor, and resolutions of the Georgia Convention asking a loan of thirty millions to Southern planters.

The House next drew for seats, after which the Speaker presented a message from the President in reference to the trial and conviction of American citizens in Great Britain and Ireland, with a partial report and other subjects, which were appropriately referred.

Mr. Stevens, of Pennsylvania, asked leave to offer a resolution that evidence be taken on impeachment by the Judiciary Committee, and that they have leave to report at any time. Adopted.

The House went into Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union, Mr. Wilson, of Iowa, in the Chair, and resumed consideration of the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation bill.

The Speaker presented a communication from the Secretary of the Navy transmitting the papers in the court martial case of Second Engineer Sawyer, tried at Portsmouth Navy Yard, for speaking disrespectfully of the President of the United States and suspended for one year.

Mr. Schenck, while admitting that disrespect to a superior officer should be punished, characterized the action of the informer in the case as a poor, mean, dirty, pimping business.

Some debate ensued, during which Mr. Schenck added it was contemptible for the Secretary of the Navy to keep a spy at the Portsmouth Navy Yard, to watch over the conversation of officers. The testimony would show that the witness in the case had spoken as disrespectfully of Congress as Mr. Sawyer had done of the President, and therefore he wanted it printed.

Mr. Ela said he was informed that employees at the Portsmouth Navy Yard were discharged because they had expressed Republican sentiments, and he hoped all appropriations for detectives and spies at the Navy Yard would be struck out.

After further debate, the papers were referred to the Naval Committee, and the House adjourned.

Senate.

Mr. Ramsey presented a petition of the citizens of Colorado, asking admission as a State. Referred.

After the expiration of the morning hour, Mr. Henderson introduced a bill to set apart an Indian Territory; also authorizing the distribution of surplus condemned property among the Indians. Referred.

The Supplementary Reconstruction bill was then taken up.

Messrs. Harlan and Tipton spoke in favor of the bill.

LOCAL NOTICES.

SHAMBURG—W. F. MESSIMER & CO.—This enterprising firm have lately opened a store and shop near the Forest House, and are doing a fine and prosperous business. Their stock consists of oil well supplies, such as drilling cable, sand pump rope, sand pumps, all kinds of valves, working barrels, tubing, casing, sucker rods, bull-wheel irons, well-rig irons, driving pipe, pipe fittings, &c., &c. Their shop, adjoining the store, is fitted up for pipe cutting, and doing all kinds of sheet-iron and tin work. The firm are determined to keep pace with the demands of their trade, and add to their stock in variety and extent as may be necessary. There will, no doubt, be a larger development at Shamburg and vicinity, the coming season, than in any other part of the oil regions.

It is stated during the five years of its existence eighty millions passengers have traveled on the London Underground Railway, at an average speed of sixteen miles an hour, and without the loss of a single life, and that year by year the traffic steadily increases, twenty-three millions of passengers having been carried in 1867 against twenty-one millions in 1866.

A man in Keena, Wisconsin, was buried seventy-five feet under ground, by the caving in of the sides of a well in which he was at work, but his neighbors dug him out in four days and restored him, alive and well, to his family. So says a Western paper

A female pickpocket having been arrested in Washington, threatened the officer with the vengeance of "her friend," the Hon. Mr. ——, of the House of Representatives, unless he at once set her at liberty. Upon this, the officer took her directly to the "friend" mentioned, when the latter denied all knowledge of her, and she was locked up.

"Well, wife, I don't see how they can send a letter on them wires without tearing 'em all to bits." "La, me, they don't send the paper, but they send the writing in a fluid state."

The gold medals issued to the successful exhibitors of the Paris Exposition, are severely criticised by the French press, and pronounced shabby and utterly unworthy of the occasion. "The caskets in which they are sent," says the Paris Siecle, "are such mean looking affairs that no gentleman would deem them fit to encase his meerschaum pipe."

The Kingston (Canada) Whig says that the frequent shocks of earthquake (or something else) have induced the deer in the hilly regions to descend into the plains, where they have become so tame or so stupid as to enter the farmers' yards and eat with the domestic animals, and stay about without showing any signs of fear.

"Wife," said a man, looking for his bootjack, "I have places where I keep my things and you ought to know it." "Yes," said she, "I ought to know where you keep your late hours—but I don't."

A student of Dartmouth College, recently, in reply to a question by his tutor, defined the word "passover" to refer to the crossing of the Red sea by the Israelites.

The Chicago Tribune thinks the cause of hard times is that too many young men repudiate farming and take to manufacturing and trading, so that while we have not enough to eat we have twice as many clothes as we can wear.

In Texas, week before last, two families, between whom a feud has existed for a long period, met by appointment to settle their grievances by wager of battle. Three men were slain outright, and several other persons were severely wounded.

As a French boy, fifteen years old, was cleaning a portion of the machinery in a Massachusetts cotton-mill, while it was in operation, he was caught by the clothes and drawn between an iron standard and a heavy carriage, and killed.

The boys of Charleston, S. C., and Savannah, are now having fine sport bathing in the harbors of those cities, "the water," as a Southern exchange says, "being just the right temperature for comfort."

A gentleman presented a lace collar to the object of his adoration, and in a jocular way said: Do not let any one else rumple it. "No, my dear, said the lady, "I will take it off."

As two young ladies and a servant were sitting up with the corpse of a child, in Aberdeen, Mass., the servant got asleep, when one of the young ladies pricked her with a pin, whereat she started up and screamed violently. In a moment after, the corpse began to quiver and move; and, in a short time, the child opened its eyes and, by morning, was able to run about. Had it not been for the servant's shriek, it would, doubtless, have been buried alive in a trance.

The clergyman in a certain town having published the banns of marriage between two persons, was followed by the clerk's reading these words: "Mistaken souls who dream of heaven."

Large posters in Cincinnati proclaim "Five Hundred Thousand Devils!" and those who naturally take it to be a Vallandigham Convention find, on inspection, that it is a Black Crooked play at the German theatre.

Napoleon recently got up a serenade for himself with a band consisting of 400 drummers and 1600 musicians.

A Library of Universal Information.

THE NEW

AMERICAN CYCLOPÆDIA:

A Popular Dictionary of General Knowledge.

EDITED BY

GEORGE RIPLEY AND CHARLES A. DANA,

AIDED BY A NUMEROUS SELECT CORPS OF WRITERS, IN ALL BRANCHES OF SCIENCE ART AND LITERATURE

In 16 large volumes, 8vo

750 double-column pages in each volume.

The leading claims to public consideration which the new American Cyclopædia possesses may be thus briefly stated:

"1. It surpasses all other works in the fullness and ability of the articles relating to the United States.

"2. No other work contains so many reliable biographies of the leading men of this and other nations. In this respect it is far superior even to the more bulky Encyclopædia Britannica.

"3. The best minds in this country have been employed in enriching its pages with the latest data, and the most recent discoveries in every branch of manufacture, mechanics, and general science.

"4. It is a library in itself, where every topic is treated, and where information can be gleaned which will enable a student, if he is so disposed, to consult other authorities, thus affording him an invaluable key to knowledge.

"5. It is neatly printed, with readable type, on good paper, and contains a most copious index.

"6. Its the only work which gives anything approaching correct descriptions of cities and towns of America, or embraces reliable statistics showing the wonderful growth of all sections."

Every one that reads, every one that mingles in society, is constantly meeting with allusions to subjects on which he needs and desires further information. In conversation, in trade, in professional life, on the farm, in the family, practical questions are continually arising, which no man, well read or not, can always satisfactorily answer. If a libraries for reference are at hand, they are consulted, and not only is the curiosity gratified, and stock of knowledge increased, but perhaps information is gained and ideas are suggested that will directly contribute to the business success of the party concerned.

A Cyclopædia is pre-eminently the work for our country and generation. This is the age of steam. No one has time to grope among a hundred different works for every little fact required, without the certainty of finding it at last. With a Cyclopædia, embracing every conceivable subject, and having its topics alphabetically arranged, not a moment is lost. The matter in question is found at once, digested, condensed, stripped of all that is irrelevant and unnecessary, and verified by a comparison of the best authorities. Moreover, while only men of fortune can collect a library complete in all the departments of knowledge, a Cyclopædia worth its weight in gold for purposes of reference at least a thousand volumes, is within the reach of all,—the clerk, the merchant, the professional man, the farmer, the mechanic. In a country like ours, where the humblest may be called to responsible positions requiring intelligence and general information, the value of such a work cannot be over-estimated.

"We can confidently and conscientiously recommend the 'Annual Cyclopædia' to all who would have an accurate and readable history of contemporary events close at hand and as a safe work of reference."—Evening Traveller.

Heretofore we have in our circulars, alluded to a series of experiments being made with Nitro Glycerine and other explosives. We now announce that we have succeeded, even beyond our most sanguine expectations, as regards the safety of handling, also the unprecedented force and power manifested by a skillful combination whereby the size of the Torpedo is lessened and the force many times multiplied and are now prepared to operate on wells with any of the above named explosives—either with our improved combination or our old Combination Torpedo, which has a record of utility too well known to need mention here.
